
Convergence figures across modalities. The paper reports results until convergence. As can be observed, continued training does not benefit external alignment (REPA) across all modalities, and our method maintains its advantage.